

Daily Practice

Quiet your mind for 5-10 minutes by sitting or lying down with your eyes closed and concentrate on your breath.

- ◆ Breathe in deeply, visualizing the light of your soul above your head.
- ◆ Gather all fractals of yourself, that you are aware & unaware of, from all over the times and places, into this light
- ◆ Breathe in the light through the top of your head into your body, and down into your heart space.

Ask “What do I need to know right now?” or “What do I need to know for my highest Joy and the highest Joy of all?”

and as you breathe, feel the light of your soul essence relaxing and healing your body.

Concentrate on your heart space, feel it expand and as you dive into your heart.

And now either:

- ◆ Observe your feelings and perceive everything your heart, intuition, soul and body want to tell you; allow your soul to express itself, or
- ◆ Draw a Trot/Oracle card and see what message your soul has for you through this cosmic instrument.

Give your body and spirit the opportunity to guide you towards your Joy and Life purpose.

Breathwork to combat anxiety

Inhale twice powerfully and shortly - followed by 1 extended exhale repeat 5-10 times to calm nervous system and reduce negative stress accumulation.

If you find yourself in a difficult situation, stop to inspect, explore and analyse it, identify the emotion you are you feeling, then ask yourself what has triggered the emotion, why you feel this way, and then from an objective point of view, become a neutral observer and ask what you can learn from feeling this way and what do you need in order to change it, how can you alleviate or solve the situation?
